Stephen Robertson

Don't count your chickens

... but if the chicken is just the egg's way of making another egg

then what I should not be doing is counting my eggs.

This poem is reprinted from Slanting Lines, the website of the poems of Stephen Robertson, at https://www.slacktide.site/slanting_lines/